

Denmark, Finland, Germany, Iceland, Ireland, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Russia, Sweden, the United Kingdom, and Uruguay. Seven nations only harvest shrimp using small boats with crews of less than five that use manual rather than mechanical means to retrieve nets, or catch shrimp in using other methods that do not threaten sea turtles. Use of such small-scale technology does not adversely affect sea turtles. The seven nations are: the Dominican Republic, Fiji, Haiti, Jamaica, Oman, Peru and Sri Lanka. The Bahamas and Brunei, certified on these grounds in 1997, were not certified this year after it was established that Bahamian waters do not have enough shrimp to support a commercial shrimp fishery and that Brunei's commercial fishery harvests appreciable quantities of shrimp using methods that could threaten sea turtles. Last year neither exported shrimp to the United States,

Any shipment of shrimp harvested in Brazil, Venezuela, Nigeria, the Bahamas or Brunei with a date of export therefrom prior to May 1, 1998 will be allowed entry into the United States regardless of date of importation into the United States. That is, shipments of shrimp harvested in these countries in transit prior to the effective date of the ban are not barred from entry.

The Department of State communicated the certifications under section 609 to the Office of Trade Operations of the United States Customs Service in a letter transmitted on May 1, 1998. The letter noted that the Department has informed U.S. importers and foreign nations that after May 1, 1997, the Exporter's/Importer's Declaration required to be submitted with all shrimp imports must be the latest version (OMB Approval No. 140-0095, expiration date 9-31-99). In addition, the United States Customs Service and foreign and domestic users of the DSP-121 form have been notified that, in accordance with a U.S. Court of International Trade order of October 8, 1996, shrimp harvested with TEDs in uncertified nations may not be imported into the United States and that exemption 7.2 on the DSP 121 is not valid until further notice.

Dated: May 19, 1998.

R. Tucker Scully,

Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary For Oceans.
